April-May 2024

Dear Pastor and Praying Friends,

Thank each of you once again for your prayers and support during our time of deputation. We have been greatly blessed and encouraged over the last several months with the interest that has been shown in our ministry to South America. Several folks have committed to pray faithfully for us and many others have expressed interest in coming and visiting the field for themselves. I do truly believe that every Christian, if physically able, should take a missions trip to another part of the world. It is so eye-opening and humbling at the way most of the world lives. They do without so much physically and spiritually. If it were not important for us to see it for ourselves then Christ would not have exhorted us so much to look unto the fields or look unto the harvest. You don't necessarily have to be there to get a heart and a vision for missions, but it sure does help.

This spring we began the busiest stretch of meetings and travel that we have had to date. We will be gone from our home for nearly 10 weeks and thousands of miles. We are very thankful for each of these meetings and for safety and encouragement with every mile. The spring is full of Missions Conferences or Missions Revivals and we have been privileged to be a part of several. It is wonderful to see God still stirring the hearts of Christians here in America for world evangelism. We are always praying for great meetings and for God to continue to send laborers into His harvest. We have seen some amazing faith promise commitments made as churches seek to do all they can in these last days. We have also enjoyed getting to take part in the soul-winning programs of some of the churches when we are visiting. May we all be sensitive to His leading in our lives as to where we fit into His plan and seek for that eternal purpose that brings glory to our Savior.

Currently we are about 90% supported. We are still planning for a summer departure to language school and are praying for the remaining support that we need to come in over the next few months. It is increasingly exciting to us to see what God has brought to pass in our lives over the past year.

We would like to ask you to pray with us regarding a few requests: the completion of our deputation that the Lord brings in the support that He knows we will need and safety along the way, our family as we go through this time of transition, knowing we will soon have to say our farewells, for the sale of our home here in the States, and for the visa process to go smoothly. God is so good and we know He will help comfort and guide us through this time. All we desire is to be found faithful. Thank each of you for caring, giving, and praying.

In His service,
Aaron and Kristia Reisinger
